

4 Get your printer ready

4 PageMaker installs the new LaserWriter 8 driver (version 8.1.1) it needs for PostScript printers. You'll need to connect your printer with this driver or a later version, if you have not already done so.

Open the Chooser (on the  menu) and select the "LaserWriter 8" icon. Select your printer and click "Setup...." Then click "Auto Setup" in the dialog box that appears, and click "OK." That's it!

Tip: Read pages 205 and 209 of the PageMaker 5.0 User Manual for more detailed information about setting up your PostScript printer.

3 Insert Disk 1, double-click the Aldus Installer/Utility, and follow along as the Installer tells you what to do.

Note: For detailed installation instructions, see the "Getting Started Update" card.

3 Start installing

1 Prepare your computer

1 Quit open applications and restart your Power Macintosh with extensions off (hold down Shift while you choose "Restart" from the Special menu in the Macintosh Finder).

You'll need about 15MB of free disk space to install all PageMaker 5.0 files. If you don't have enough space, you can install PageMaker with a minimum set of supporting files, which requires about 13MB of disk space.

IMPORTANT: If you have installed your original version of PageMaker 5.0 onto your Power Macintosh, follow the instructions in step 7 on the enclosed "Getting Started Update" card to protect your original version.

2 If you are upgrading to PageMaker 5.0, use the serial number from your previous version. If you are a new user, your serial number is on the back of this card and on Disk 2.

Be sure to include hyphens when you enter your serial number during installation.

2 Get your serial number

Where do I go after installation?

ReadMe files

Text files located in your PageMaker folder (usually called "Aldus PageMaker 5.0") that contain important information about PageMaker 5.0 not found in the printed documentation. You'll find information and performance tips specific to the Power Macintosh in the "PM5 for Power Macintosh ReadMe" file.

Getting Started

PageMaker 5.0 features and a tutorial for beginners.

Online tutorial

If you installed the tutorial, double-click "Learning PageMaker 5.0" in the Aldus PageMaker 5.0 folder for demonstrations of PageMaker 5.0 basics.

User Manual

Complete reference to PageMaker 5.0.

Online Help

Choose "Help..." from the Windows menu in PageMaker for online reference.

Commercial Printing Guide

Tips and strategies on creating publications for commercial printing.

Aldus Additions

Descriptions of more than 20 Additions included with PageMaker 5.0 for the Power Macintosh.

Here is your serial number.

02-5014-202759540

serial number]

If your workgroup uses PageMaker on multiple computers, read this:

PageMaker has built-in Network Copy Detection (NCD) that helps protect you from using PageMaker illegally. NCD runs in the background and alerts you if it finds that the number of users exceeds the number permitted by the software license agreement.

If you get an alert, you'll have to save your work and exit PageMaker. You can restart PageMaker as soon as one person quits an identical copy. (Choose "About PageMaker..." from the  menu to determine which users have the same NCD number.)

You can increase the copies at your site by purchasing a license package or additional retail versions. Contact your subsidiary, dealer, or distributor for details.

HELP! It didn't work!

Start the installation again, and follow the instructions in the "Getting Started Update" card. If you run into problems, read the troubleshooting tips on page 6 of PageMaker 5.0 Getting Started. In most cases, you'll be able to solve the problem in a few minutes.

You can also get up-to-the-minute installation tips by fax 24 hours a day, 7 days a week—just call Aldus Fax•Y! at 206.628.5737 and request document 212401.

If you really get stuck, call Aldus Technical Support at 206.628.4501 for help. (Outside the U.S. and Canada, contact your subsidiary, dealer, or distributor for technical support phone numbers.) If you're upgrading to PageMaker 5.0 for the Power Macintosh, see your customer upgrade letter for the technical support options that apply to you.